

From Maine to California.
Cherish our comrades true,
Who in our great Grand Army
Have worn the Union blue.

Brothers, then, in Union strong,
 We shall ever lead the van,
 As the nations sweep along
 To fulfil the hopes of man.

With bray of the trumpet
And roll of the drum,
And keen ring of bugle
The cavalry come.
Sharp clank the steel scabbards,
The bridle chains ring,
And foam from red nostrils
The wild chargers fling.

Float on above the living,
float on above the dead!
While a hope awaits fruition,
while a prayer remains unsaid!
This motto on thy bosom bear to earth's remotest parts: God keep the Union! Give to all our people loyal hearts!

Fall in, fall in, old soldiers,
And fight your battles o'er,
Until above the last low bier
The wings of Freedom soar, Stand hand to hand and heart
to heart,
In fame's eternal care,
Until the great Reunion
Unites you over there.

And how have gone the years with you, O comrades tried and true, Since laying down the musket and casting off the blue?
And where is pitched your bivouac?
Who messes with you now?
And are you training new recruits to toe the mark?
And how are rations with you,
comrades?
What! a little short, you say?
Though you forage late and early your prizes slip away?

Comrades known by Faith the clearest, Tried when death was near and nearest,
 Bound we are by ties the dearest,
 Brothers evermore to be.
 And, if spared, and growing older, Shoulder still in line with shoulder,
 And with hearts no chill the colder,
 Brothers even we shall be.

Only a private - yet He who reads
Through the guises of the heart,
Looks not at the splendor of the deeds,
But the way we do our part;
And when He shall take us by the hand,
And our small service own,
There'll a glorious band of privates stand
As victors around the throne!

And cheers for our comrades living, and tears as they pass away—
And three times three for the Drummer-boy who fought at the front that day!
