State Song*

MICHIGAN MY MICHIGAN

Home of my heart, I sing of thee!
Michigan, my Michigan,
Thy lake-bound shores I long to see,
Michigan, my Michigan.
From Saginaw's tall whispering pines,
To Lake Superior's farthest mines,
Fair in the light of memory shines
Michigan, my Michigan.

Thou gav'st thy sons without a sigh,
Michigan, my Michigan,
And sent thy bravest forth to die,
Michigan, my Michigan.
Beneath a hostile southern sky
They bore thy banner proud and high,
Ready to fight, but never fly,
Michigan, my Michigan.

From Yorktown on to Richmond's wall,
Michigan, my Michigan,
They bravely fight, as bravely fall.
Michigan, my Michigan.
To Williamsburgh we point with pride—
Our FIFTH and SECOND, side by side,
There stemmed and stayed the battle's tide,
Michigan, my Michigan.

When worn with watching traitor foes,
Michigan, my Michigan,
The welcome night brought sweet repose,
Michigan, my Michigan,
The soldier, weary from the fight,
Sleeps sound, nor fears the rebels' might,
For "Michigan's on guard to-night!"
Michigan, my Michigan.

Afar on Shiloh's fatal plain,
Michigan, my Michigan,
Again behold thy heroes slain,
Michigan, my Michigan.
"Their strong arms crumble in the dust,
And their bright swords have gathered rust;
Their memory is our sacred trust,"
Michigan, my Michigan.

And often in the coming years,
Michigan, my Michigan,
Some widowed mother'll dry her tears,
Michigan, my Michigan,

MICHIGAN MY MICHIGAN

And turning with a thrill of pride,
 Say to the children at her side,
 At Antietam your father died,
 For Michigan, OUR Michigan.

With General Grant's victorious name,
 Michigan, my Michigan,
 Thy sons still onward march to fame,
 Michigan, my Michigan;
 And foremost in the fight we see,
 Where e'er the bravest dare to be,
 The sabres of thy cavalry,
 Michigan, my Michigan.

Dark rolled the Rappahannock's flood,
 Michigan, my Michigan,
 The tide was crimsoned with thy blood,
 Michigan, my Michigan.
 Although for us the day was lost,
 Still it shall be our proudest boast:
 At Fredericksburg our SEVENTH crossed!
 Michigan, my Michigan.

And when the happy time shall come,
 Michigan, my Michigan,
 That brings thy war-worn heroes home,
 Michigan, my Michigan,
 What welcome from their own proud shore,
 What honors at their feet, we'll pour,
 What tears for those who'll come no more,
 Michigan, my Michigan.

A grateful country claims them now,
 Michigan, my Michigan,
 And deathless laurel binds each brow,
 Michigan, my Michigan;
 And history the tale will tell,
 Of how they fought and how they fell,
 For that dear land they loved so well,
 Michigan, my Michigan.

Mrs. Winifred Lee Lyster of Detroit.

INTRODUCTORY.

It was deemed necessary and desirable by the legislative committee of the Michigan Department of the G. A. R., to publish in this connection a brief analysis and explanation of the conditions prevailing during the civil war period, under which the regimental monthly returns and special reports to the Adjutant General of this State were made, and from which, the Soldiers and Sailors Records were compiled by the Assistant Adjutant General, Colonel Turner, and under his careful supervision.

Colonel Frederick Schneider, the chairman of the G. A. R. legislative committee on this subject,—who has worked indefatigably for favorable legislation—has prepared the following brief analysis and explanatory statement, as an introductory and supplement to this general index to the library sets of the Michigan Soldiers and Sailors Record, for the information of the public at large.

Nearly a half century has elapsed since the great fame and renown of Michigan soldiers and sailors—so celebrated in story and song—have passed into the general history of this country. While more than two-thirds of the survivors who participated in that fierce crucial struggle for the preservation of the Federal Union of the States from secession and dissolution, have passed into the "Silent Bivouac of the Dead." In that most heroic and tragic period of this country, 1861-1865, Michigan, with the comparatively sparse population of 749,113, or 13.27 per square mile*, furnished a total enrollment of 92,220 troops, which were mustered into United States service in the following named organizations tabulated on pages 6 and 7.

Not until a generation after the culmination of these heroic and decisive events, did the Michigan legislature provide by Act 147, Public Acts of 1903, for the publication and distribution of the individual records of the rank and file of Michigan soldiers and sailors.

In 1902, at the annual "Encampment" of the Michigan Department of the "Grand Army of the Republic", the matter was brought up before the encampment, and after due discussion, resolutions urging Governor Bliss and the legislature for early action on the project were unanimously adopted. A legislative committee was appointed, and given full power to act in behalf of the G. A. R. Department, composed of Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Alfred Milnes of Coldwater, Ex-Representative, Charles E. Foote of Kalamazoo, and Colonel Frederick Schneider of Lansing, of which committee, the latter was chosen secretary. After an exhaustive and thorough canvass of the subject with Gov. Bliss, Asst. Adjt. General Geo. H. Turner, and many prominent veterans, the secretary drafted a bill, fully covering the subject, which after full approval of the entire committee, was introduced in both the senate and house of the legislature of 1903, (the reader is referred to House Journal of 1903, Vol. 1, pages 190-193, and House Journal of 1911, pages 717-720, for printed copies and particulars.)

*Numerous other companies and detachments, that were enrolled in this State, other than those enumerated and listed in above table, which entered the service with troops of other states are separately reported in detail on pages 740 to 745 of "Michigan in the War" published by the State in 1882, but the organizations of other states, which they joined, did not report their services to this State; hence the Adjutant General's Department of this State was unable to account for them in this General Index of Names. This fact alone, taken together with that other fact, that all re-enlistments of veterans were re-enrolled, and were counted in the aggregate of the enrollment, will in a large measure account for the 6,949 difference between the total enrollment of 92,220 and the 85,271 names accounted for in this General Index of Michigan Troops in the Civil War.

Before the close of the session this bill, introduced by Senator Cannon, was passed and became a law entitled Act 147, P. A. 1903.

As soon as the law went into effect, the Ass't Adjutant General, Col. Geo. H. Turner, was put in full charge to plan and supervise the work of compilation. But when he had almost completed the compilation including about one-half of the general index for the library sets, he was obliged to leave to take charge of the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids, of which institution he had previously been appointed Commandant. This unfortunate break in the supervision of the work, gave the G. A. R. legislative committee very much trouble. The work of the compilation was suspended and the unexpended balance of the appropriation was turned into the general fund of the State. It was found upon investigation, that this unexpended balance could not again be credited to the fund for which it was originally appropriated, and that the Legislature would be compelled to again appropriate the amount necessary to complete the work.

Such bills were drafted and presented to the two subsequent legislatures but failed to receive recognition and were crowded out by the ways and means committee of the house on account of the financial needs of the State. When the legislature of 1913 convened, the G. A. R. committee appealed to Secretary of State Martindale who has a well trained force on index work in his department, and who is himself an experienced legislator—to draft a bill to cover the subject and aid the committee in its passage into law. This he did with great success and the committee, in its final report to the G. A. R. Department, gratefully acknowledged the efficient aid of the Secretary of State and his department for the final passage of the law and that the final compilation of the work is ready for the printer and binder.

When the Michigan Soldiers and Sailors Records were first completed and distributed to surviving veterans of the civil war, some criticism was heard on account of defects and omissions in the record of many civil war veterans, which is not surprising to those who had any experience in the administration of troops in the field and in compiling the monthly returns during the four years of the civil war, and the many difficulties they had to contend with in making out the monthly returns with incompetent clerical help, under the most adverse circumstances, and with practically no conveniences to do the work, all of which had to be improvised on the spur of the moment, with such make-shifts as the occasion afforded. This was not peculiar to Michigan soldiers alone, but was characteristic of all the states that had troops in the field. Many omissions in the records were caused by the negligence of the administrations of the great general hospitals to which wounded and sick soldiers drifted from the fields of action, who died of their wounds or disease or were discharged for disability, and such facts not reported to the organizations in the field who carried them on their rolls to the final muster out when they were accounted for as "absent in general hospital," or of the many reported "missing in action," who generally might be assigned to the following three categories:

- 1st. Those who were wounded in action, died in some secluded spot, and were not found after the action;
- 2nd. Those who were captured and died in prison or were never heard of afterward;

3rd. Those who had become sick and were compelled thereby to drop out on the long weary march, or deserted.

In all such cases, the Adjutant General's Department has finished such records with the uniform phrase of "No further record," and only in comparatively few cases—notwithstanding many efforts made by the department to supplement such incomplete records with subsequent authentic information—was it possible to complete such records. It was a common experience that the monthly returns of the fighting regiments of the civil war, whose monthly itinerary was filled with the most exciting, dramatic and tragic incidents; and who were most frequently on the fiery edge of battle under fire of the enemy—the fierce charge in battle or siege, often specially mentioned in general orders for their heroic gallantry—who endured the greatest hardships and privations with the utmost fortitude; were the most meagre and barren of incidents in their monthly returns to the Adjutant General of the State, seemingly satisfied with the glowing accounts of the press of that period from their war correspondents, while the Adjutants in the field, during campaign, were too busy with the many details incident to the movements of an active campaign to think of or record even the principal events and incidents of the past month in their returns to the State Adjutant General, not even dreaming what effect their negligence would have on the histories of their organizations, to be compiled fifty years later, and very likely long after they, and the many gallant heroes who served with them, had passed off the stage of action to the "Silent bivouac of the Dead." While, on the other hand, the returns of those Garrison Regiments, who were stationed many months at one point or fort, far away from campaigns in the field, with plenty of leisure, plenty of competent clerical help, and every facility for the making of official returns, often produced monthly returns to their states, that were models of completeness and very descriptive of every little incident of their service. Where even slight collisions with the enemy on the distant picket line, were magnified into engagements, and where even a sprain of the ankle caused from running on such occasions, was reported as a casualty in the monthly return of such idle regiments. Also much injustice was done to commissioned officers who had been most active and heroic in the field, battle and siege, by the passage of the so-called Omnibus Bill by Congress, at the close of the civil war, which permitted every congressman to recommend to the War department for Brevet rank, (one grade higher than the grade to which they had been commissioned), of all commissioned officers who belonged to their congressional districts, who had especially distinguished themselves for brave gallantry in action under fire of the enemy, or for special meritorious services at the front. The noble intent of this act of Congress, was finally so distorted by politicians, that many commissioned officers of such garrison regiments, were brevetted for faithful services at a desk, who had really never been at the front while a campaign was in progress, or within a hundred miles of any battle; while many officers of the so-called fighting regiments who had participated in the rough and tumble of the great battles, the many hardships and privations incident to the great campaigns of the civil war, who had bravely and conscientiously and with great efficiency, executed the grave responsibilities imposed upon them in leading their comrades in the thousand dangers and perils incident to the vicissitudes of the great campaigns of the war, who had frequently in the heat of battles won the special admiration of their immediate commanders and been promised special mention or brevets for special acts of gallantry and bravery, by their immediate commanders of regiment or brigade, but who in the fullness of incidents of the times subsequently forgot all about these fair promises made in the heat of battle and in their special admiration for the conspicuous deed of heroism; and no mention whatever was made in their reports to the War Department, or in the monthly returns to the State. Thus it happened, that the officer who had had the good fortune to be stationed in garrison, and in the reserves around Washington, far from danger, with no duties more arduous than the daily Dress Parades, and sitting at a desk making out elaborate reports of every minute detail of the service, were all brevetted for "Faithful service," while the—a thousand times more deserving—officers of the fighting regiments in the field, where "Faithful Service" was a thousand times more difficult, were passed over without an individual mention of their personal heroism in their returns to the War Department or mention in the returns to the State, owing to the neglect of their regimental administrative officers; and also owing to the characteristic modesty of brave and meritorious officers, who failed to demand of such administrative officers, a report to the State, and a redemption of such promises of a brevet for heroism in battle, or special gallantry in action made to them at the time in the field. Is it a wonder that such surviving veterans of such fighting regiments, now peruse these extremely brief and barren records with indignation and disappointment, in view of the fullness of the records of garrison regiments?

It is with a multitude of brief, barren and defective reports and returns made to the State, from the front, under adverse conditions, and untoward circumstances, and mostly through no fault of the one reporting, that Colonel Turner and his department was confronted in planning and directing the compilation of the Soldier and Sailor records. Colonel Turner, on page VII of his Introductory to the Records, well says,—

"In the compilation of this work no pains have been spared and no research of the almost numberless field returns made forty years ago, has seemed too arduous to make the soldiers record absolutely complete if there were material existing to make this possible. That inaccuracies will appear is unavoidable from the nature of the work. The inaccuracies are not the result of careless clerical work in the Adjutant General's office, but are due to the hasty compilation of returns in the field, where names were misspelled and where the name of a soldier is spelled differently in the muster-in and the muster-out rolls.

In cases where the name could not be verified as the correct one both are published. When inaccuracies appear in the record if the soldier will send his discharge papers to the Adjutant General, the corrections will be made in the official records of the office and the discharge papers promptly returned. It scarcely occurred to the officers who made their official returns to the different departments that forty years after the conflict, an individual history of each soldier who participated would be written. Had such been known then, the meagre and scant accounts of skirmishes, battles and sieges—many of them destined to be of world-wide fame—would have been extended and written out fully giving a comprehensive history of individuals, companies and regiments, a history that would be a priceless heritage today and to future generations.

The hardships of a campaign, the duties exacted night and day, the constant attention to matters of vital importance, are not conducive to literary efforts of biography or general history. It is pathetic to know that thousands upon thousands of Union soldiers who participated in many of the most desperate battles of the Civil War, have no records of such battles to their credit in the official reports. A limited number were fortunate enough to have their names recorded by their officers as participating in such engagements.

Whenever the official records have mentioned the battles in which the soldiers fought, or wounds that he received, or promotions made, or any gallant and meritorious service, such record has been carefully noted and attached to the soldier's history.

At the commencement of the work it was found that many soldiers saw service in more than one regiment, and as the appropriation contemplated but one volume to each man, the entire history of the soldier has been compiled under his name and placed in the volume where he served longest. The primary object of the whole work has been to group the comrades who served in the same regiment, with names arranged in alphabetical order, and present him with the volume containing his own military history and the history of those with whom he served."

The following rules were observed in compiling the General Index:—

1. When transferred from one company to another, name in index refers to company in which he last served.
2. Index was made to conform with names as given in the histories regardless of any typographical errors which might occur in the regimental volumes.
3. In cases where the name could not be verified as the correct one, both are indexed, using cross reference to assist in identification.
4. In cases where no record is given after a name, it is indexed with the Infantry, Cavalry, etc., as found in the compilation of the regimental volumes.

The committee feel especially indebted to the kind and willing cooperation of Adjutant General Roy C. Vandercook.

As for the "Grand Army of the Republic," whose great Trinity of Principles: "Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty," it has so vigorously, gratuitously and unselfishly promoted throughout the Union, by its persistent promotion in the Halls of Congress and Legislatures, of laws for pensions, Soldiers' Homes, care of the widows and orphans of deceased comrades and numerous other deserving benefactions, which those whom it left behind, so liberally promised at the outbreak of the war, have all been realized, and it has about completed its mission; and as the small remnant of the Order still living is now rapidly passing to "Fame's Eternal Camping Ground," it can, with deserved satisfaction, well say, like the Apostle Paul of old—"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith;" that, in the words of the immortal Lincoln, "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." Then, when the last veteran has passed, as now, will the pathetic memorial lines, of the eloquent Theodore O'Hara, quoted below, fittingly apply to this grand and devoted body of Patriots.

THE BIVOUAC OF THE DEAD.

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
But Glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead.

No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind;
No troubled thought at midnight haunts
Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of tomorrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No braying horn nor screaming fife,
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed;
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their martial shroud.
And plenteous funeral tears have washed
The red stains from each brow;
And the proud forms, by battle gashed,
Are free from anguish now.

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout are past;
Nor war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that never more may feel
The rapture of the fight.

* * * * *

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead,
Dear as the blood ye gave,
No impious footstep here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or Honor points the hallowed spot
Where Valor proudly sleeps.

Yon marble minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless song shall tell
When many a vanquished age hath flown,
The story how ye fell;
Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight,
Nor Time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of glory's light
That gilds your deathless tomb.
